"... When skies are blue,

In the rush of the twentieth century, there is little opportunity to think backwards. The future quickly banishes the present to the past. But once in a while we become aware of certain events that time has washed away too quickly, certain wonderful moments which we should like to live over and over again. Some of these moments are recorded here, like the blue October afternoon when the sun shone and the band played and the crowd cheered and the team won.

and earth is gay."

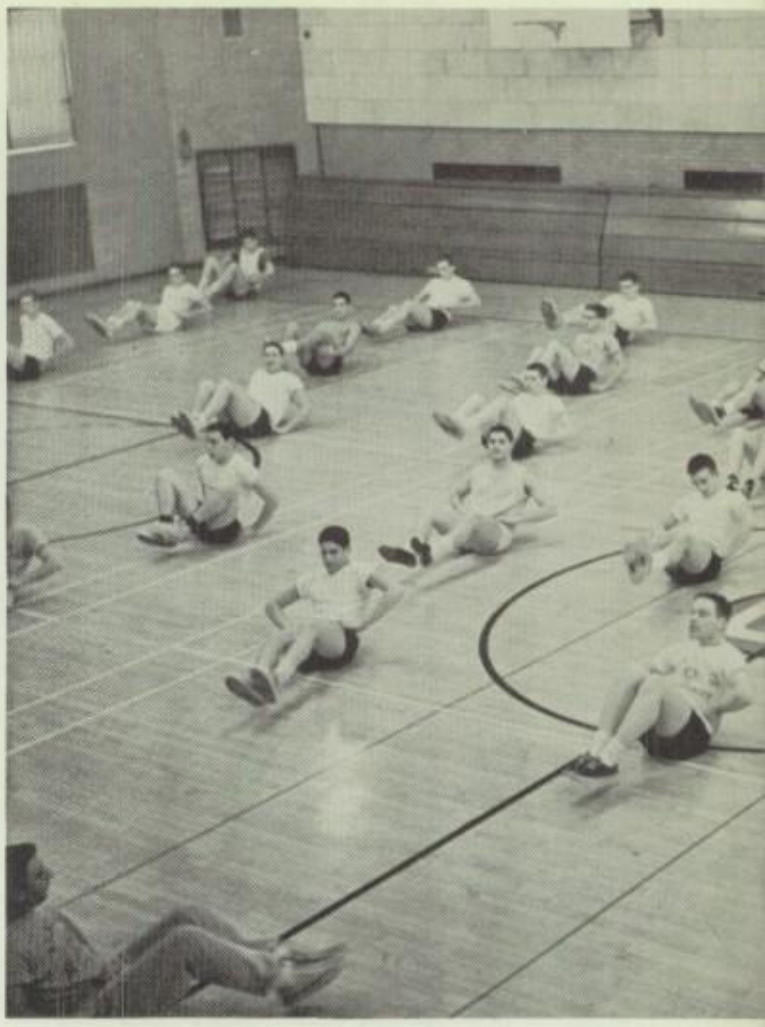
Wall-to-wall students crowd Shaker halls.



The crowd is regimented.

"Sea of Humanity" Floods Shaker

Pep rallies channel enthusiasm in the right direction.

Examining our school year in retrospect, we find one characteristic outstanding: Shaker was crowded. In the two years since the seniors were sophomores, the enrollment has risen from 1050 to 1450 students. The increase is equal to the size of the graduating class. In some ways were were inconvenienced by having so many under one roof. Mainly, the roof wasn't big enough. Halls and stairways were a sea of humanity, with each student finding himself swept from one room to another by a swift current of classmates. The fact that students outnumbered auditorium seats necessitated double assemblies.

Fortunately, a good deal of foresight by the administration solved the major problems. For example, the shortening of the lunch periods, although repugnant to students and teachers alike, did alleviate the strain on cafeteria facilities by allowing room for a third period. Furthermore, the student-teacher ratio remained satisfactory because of nine additional teachers. Classroom space, adequate to house the students, was barely adequate for accommodating all the teachers, compelling some to move from one classroom to another.

In some ways, however, our crowded condition was an advantage. Spirit seemed to increase in proportion to the enrollment—the wrestling meets must have broken some record for attendance—and students, perhaps because they were under a slight strain, made special efforts to cooperate with teachers and with each other.

Crowd spirit is vital to team victories.

Mr. Zednick is aware of more attendance problems that accompany larger enrollment.

Betsy Hawes grows anxious as short lunch period elapses.

Dick Bell considers the Social Room a cozy place to relax with a fire going.

Ninety per cent attend college . . .
Mr. Morris introduces Andy Schwartz and Bill Oviatt to a Williams College representative.

Individuality Reduces Crowd Complex

Although Shaker was indeed larger this year, it did not lose the "personal touch" for which students and teachers are grateful. The "sea of humanity" was not so important as were the individuals whom it comprised. Each person had tastes and abilities which distinguished him from his fellow students and created a sense of separate identity. And so, the effect of being crowded was considerably diminished. In fact, the "extra" people at Shaker actually stimulated school spirit with their own ideas and personalities.

Furthermore, the opportunities for each person to do what he wanted to do were increased by the additional subjects and activities that were by-products of expansion. The foremost curriculum change was the addition of honors English and honors history courses, which took their places next to the increasingly popular accelerated math program. Science courses were almost over-subscribed before Sputnik started the national science "panic." This intellectual ferment was helped by the fact that classes remained small and teachers often stayed late after school to give further instruction. The result of this "classroom spirit," for which Shaker is renowned, is that approximately 90 per cent of our students attend college.

In other aspects of school life, the club program was augmented and the athletic activity was more intense than ever. In every instance there were people taking advantage of the particular opportunities for study, creativity, and relaxation which best suited them as individuals.

"The personal touch" . . . Mr. Hendrickson helps Jane Papurt solve redox equations.

Cooperation Is Basic to Shaker Success

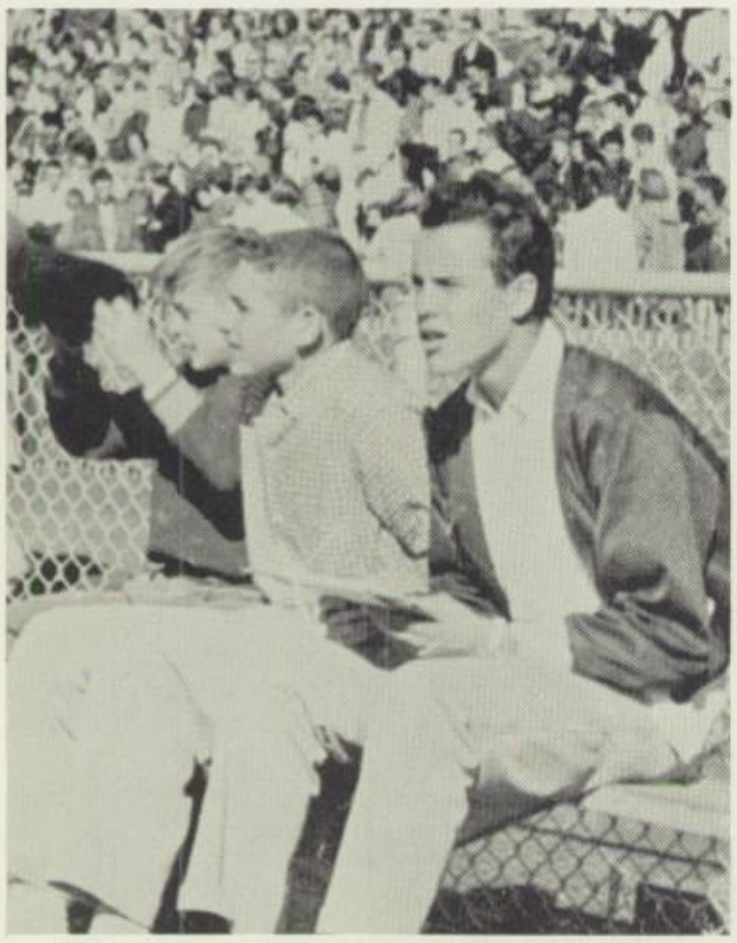
Polly Ham and Mike Hays take advantage of Honor Study Hall library privileges.

Perhaps the most significant development of the 1957-58 year was a result of the two previously mentioned elements: a large student body and a greater than ever emphasis on individuality. This development was the cooperation which made school enjoyable rather than just endurable. Cooperation is a vital factor to human relationships. When we analyze it, we see that it is responsible not only for our peace of mind, but also for most of our accomplishments.

Fortunately, this year cooperation existed at Shaker in abundance; it could be found everywhere: athletic teams that employed "team spirit" in competition, cheerleaders who sparked Shaker's enthusiasm, dramatic and musical groups that strove to put forth their very best work, committees and councils which accomplished everything from revamping the Honor Study Hall program to cleaning up after school dances, and all sorts of people who contributed their time and talents to every activity under the Shaker sun. Responsibility was dished out in big doses to the many who were willing to accept it.

In general, every person worked with every other person to overcome any handicaps imposed by our increased size and to make this school year the best possible. Here, then, are the results and, more important, the people responsible for the results—faces in the crowd.

Cheerleaders pose with Lakewood bell, symbol of success in competition through cooperation.



Young football fans keep Shaker statistician Bill Houk company as he records the day's action.

Swim timers Chuck Frankel and Buck Ellsworth are unapplauded but indispensable.

Senior boys "standing on the corner" are "watching all the sophomore girls go by."

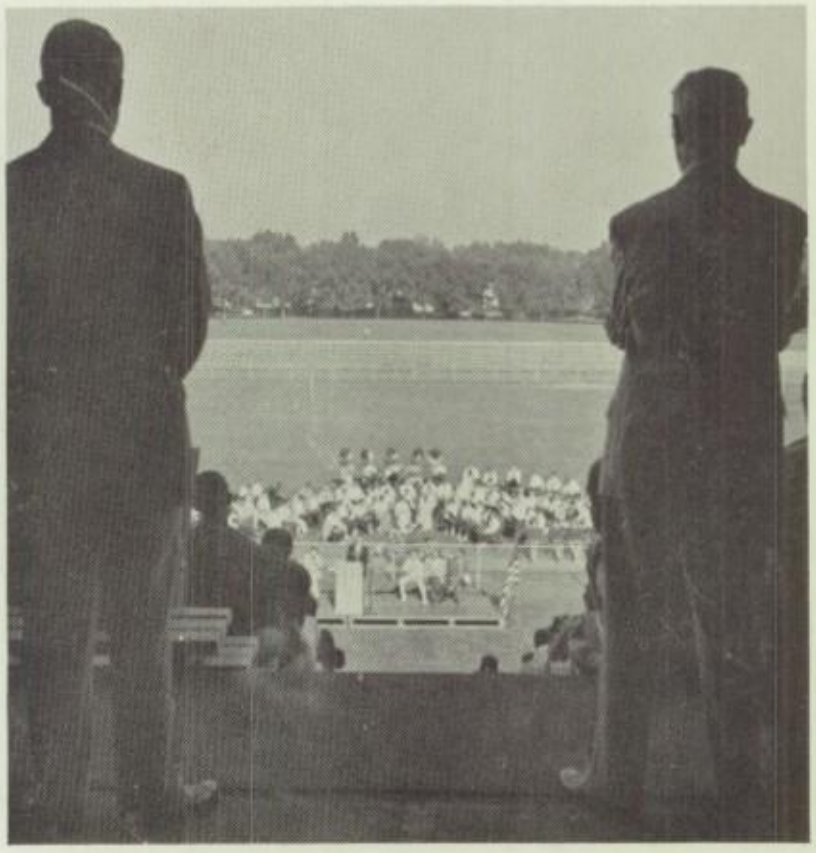
The preparation of a physics experiment shows a more serious aspect of student life.

STUDENT LIFE

The top thirty-eight, knee socks, desert boots, shortened lunch periods, new study hall policies, and a larger school all made this year unique and exciting. As we joined in the welter of activity around us we found that in our participation we obtained a double satisfaction. We experienced both individual and group pride as we helped the high school move to meet the problems of a larger student body. Though we found at Shaker seclusion enough for monastic scholarship, the animated atmosphere of the high school quenched pretty thoroughly any incipient rash of bookishness. The worth of the high school was forcibly brought home to us when we viewed the year's vivid experiences.

The Return to School Brought with It Many Familiar Things

Snack bar days brought some difficult decisions, like the to eat or not to eat problem confronting John Smith.



The Hello Assembly officially rolled out the welcome mat to all Shakerites.

Study hall provided an orderly but welcome break in a fast-moving day.

Intense enthusiasm and vibrant school pride are both exhibited at pep rallies.

Decorating for dances proved to be both rewarding and fun.

Dick Leukart turns on the charm while serving some honored guests at the Hi-Y Christmas party.

Three enraptured girls of the country's "best tested" student body listen closely as Mr. Senft explains testing procedure.

Hard committee work, such as shown here, prior to a dance, insures a successful evening for many Shakerites.

New Faces

Club meetings gave new students the opportunity to form friendships.

The arrival of new sophomores and new students gives to the school an interesting, active, talented, spirit-laden new element. New faces in the crowd also offer a challenge to all Shaker students, for we realize that the school must integrate all new students into the varied situations that make up Shaker life. This integration is done through the Hello Assembly, the Football party, and an all-out effort of the upperclassmen. New faces in the crowd present a stimulus to school pride and give much to the school by their varied actions.

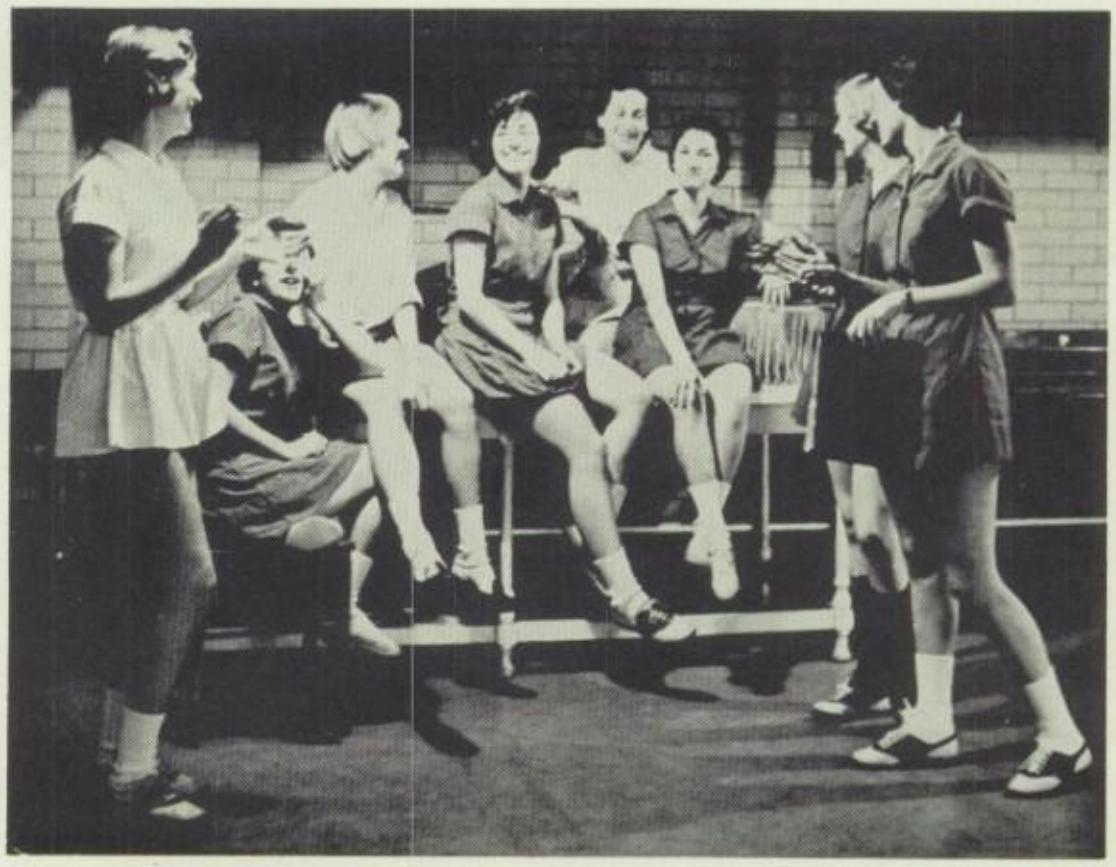
New students Gail Tukey, Betty Jo Catalano, Casma Gregory, Marcia Brown (sitting), and Jane Hantman are shown the social room by Marian Black.

And Divergent Activities

A professional atmosphere permeates the announcing domain of John Tomasch and John Dickey.

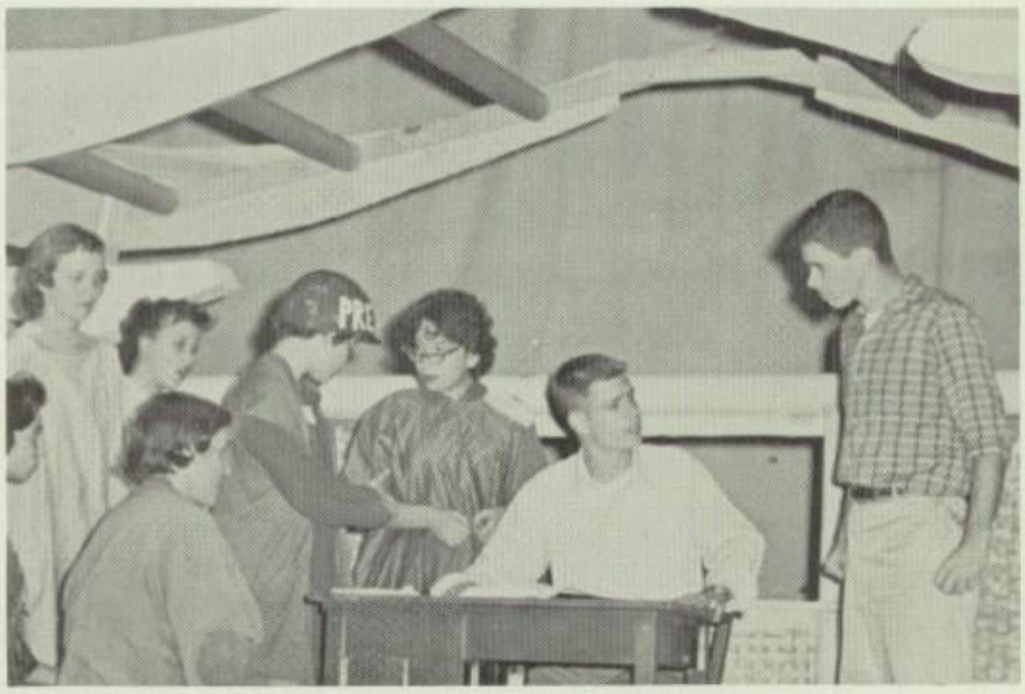
Peggy Leunk renews an old acquaintance and builds up student body prestige with the athletic department.

Co-captain Ron Rudolph asks for school support at the pep rally preceding the Heights game.



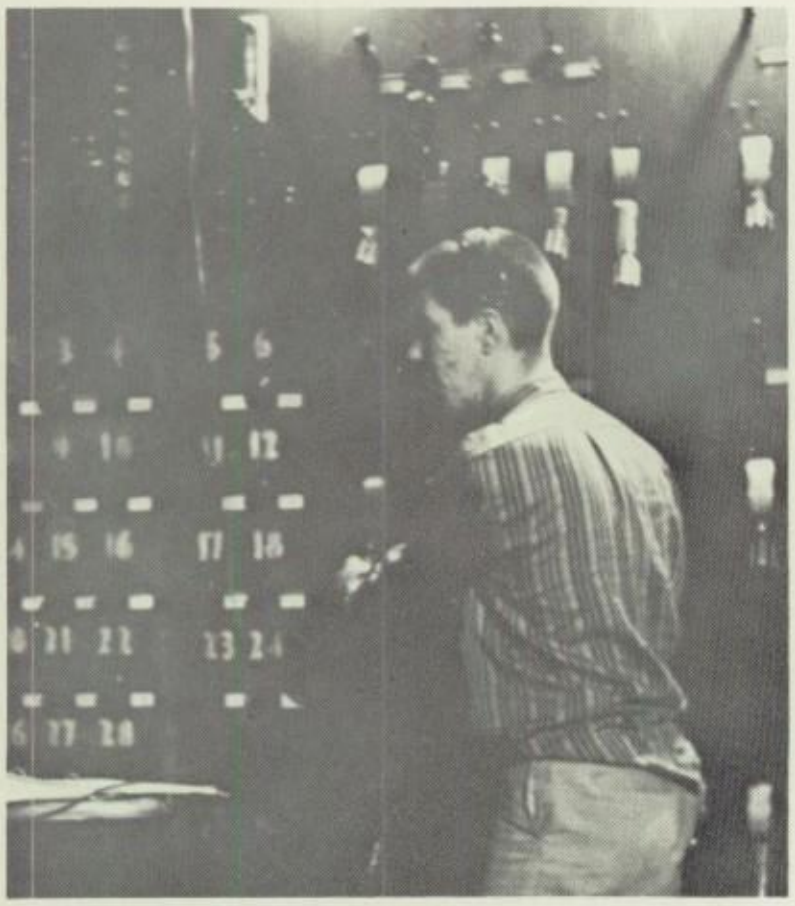
Paula Bodwell poses an idea for a pep rally while the other cheerleaders listen? intently.

Behind the Scenes Work Made



Hard, tedious, time-consuming work in rehearsal makes a polished finished performance.

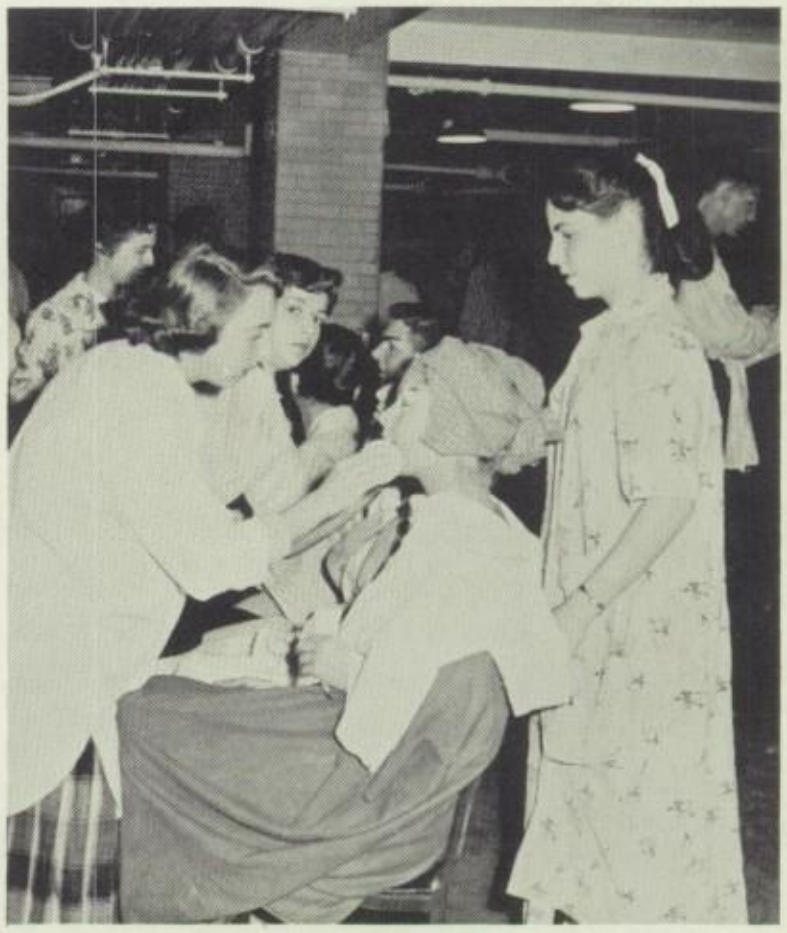
Teahouse of the August Moon a Success



Effective lighting administered by skilled technicians like Roger Skolnik gave Teahouse an oriental aura.

Stage manager Galen Longwell adds finishing touches to the scenery that sets the mood of the show.

Prop people like Carolyn Blake, shown here taking a hand prop, are vital to any production.



Realistic makeup gave life and realism to the show.

Bill Stage poses a ponderous point while other members of the class listen in awed silence.

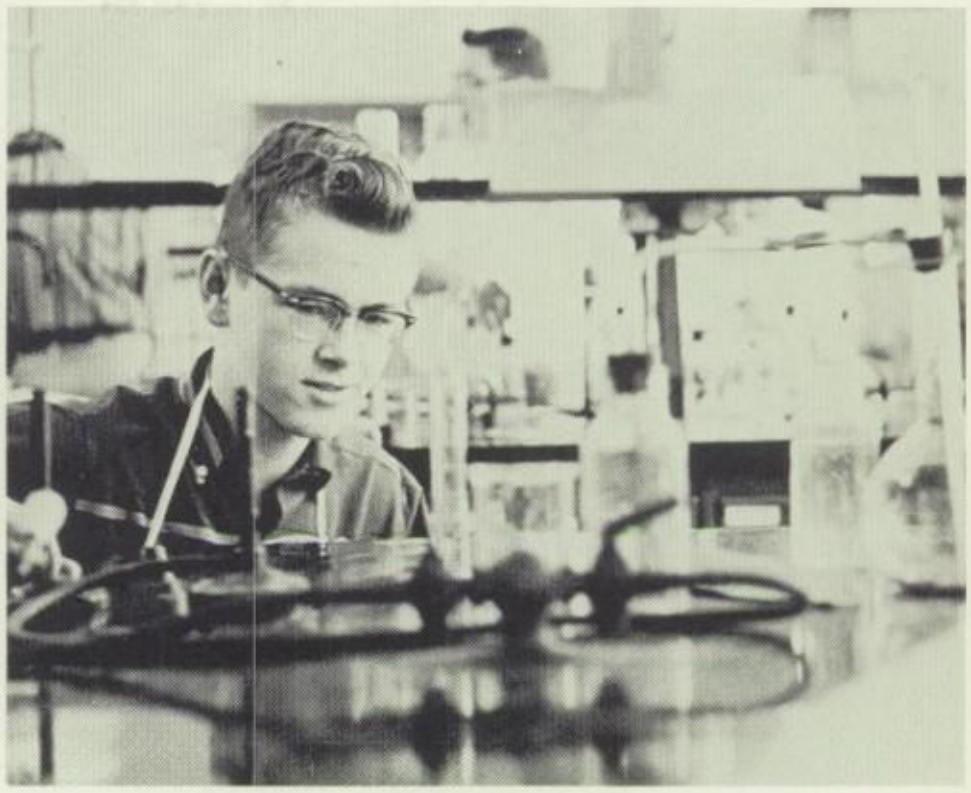
The School Year Was a Ferment of Activity

The crowd is whipped to fever pitch as the basketball game nears its finish.

Dennis Crumbine checks to see if he has made a mistake in filling out the form for his senior picture.

An air of friendly gaiety, somewhat tempered by tension, pervaded the bus rides to the football games.

Long hours of individual toil in seemingly unrelated fields such as tax stamp counting enabled the publication of the Shakerite to continue.



Bob Barnhill intently checks his measures in Chemistry lab.

But Individual Faces Still Shone Through

A group of people in a cheering section, a solitary student doing research work! Both scenes are representative of our school, for we understand the fulfillment and enjoyment that can come from both parts of our student life. We understand that there is a unexplainable, but wonderful group pride obtainable when we move in the welter of activities that are such an integral part of Shaker life. But lest we become lost in the crowd there are always, through the carrying out of specific jobs, the opportunities for personal achievement. Special classroom projects, newspaper work, labor in clubs, exertion in dramatic productions all enable us to develop that vital individual self-discipline that is so needed. At Shaker, faces can emerge from and sink back into the crowd smoothly and effortlessly, taking from both elements of Shaker life the lessons and enjoyments they can give us.

Mimi Bookatz brings music to Shaker.

Five of Shakers' favorite "dolls" take a mink draped bow.

From socks with personalities to staid shoes, from square dancing at the FFFF to jitterbugging at the Exam Bang, from crowning a queen at the Foot Ball to the singing of the Chanticleers at the Christmas Cotillion, the Shaker Dances were full of vividness, variety, and vitality. Shakerites found in dances a double opportunity for fun. Many people came to believe that the pre-dance decorating and planning was as enjoyable as the dances themselves. But for most people the opportunity to talk, dance, and generally move in an atmosphere of unrestrained congenial fun was an unexcelled high point of the year.

CURRICULUM

Every year Shaker grows and grows. The crowd increases in the halls, the cafeteria, and most of all the classrooms. Although the enrollment at Shaker is greater than ever before, the faculty is proud of the personal contact and individual attention it can still give to each student. Hard working, dedicated teachers make Shaker "a school among schools." The results of the teachers' work are shown by the achievements of the students in a variety of fields. High rating in musical contests, science fairs, and scholarship tests are the fruits of this work. Teachers take pride in the goals reached by their students. The students at Shaker are mirrors that reflect all the hours of patient, interested attention given by every member of Shaker's faculty.

Shaker Rated Among Top

What are the best schools in the country? To answer this question Dr. Robert Marschner, president of the Board of Education in Hopwood, Illinois compiled a list of the schools that in the last two years have produced twenty or more finalists in the National Merit Scholarship tests. (Shaker had 28.) Placing on such a list may not be the only criterion of academic excellence, but Shaker, nevertheless, is proud to be included.

Time magazine, which reported the results of Dr. Marschner's questionnaire to principals, gives the reasons for the excellence of these schools. First is "a keen desire to achieve academically and a natural ability." Shaker students average I.Q. is 117. Important also is a high educational level in the community. The percentage of college graduates in Shaker Heights according to the last census was twenty, the median schooling 13.6 years. It matters, too, whether parents are actively interested in the schools, the P.TA.. and in the voting of taxes. Shaker citizens have just passed a 5.3 mill levy of new taxes for operating expenses and salaries. Mention must be made of "old fashioned hard work," and Shaker believes in homework. "Students with outstanding records are publicly honored." At the end of the first semester of the senior year all Shaker students who have maintained a 4.5 average or better, are given scholarship keys provided by the Dads' Club. Another reward is the accelerated classes offered in English, mathematics, and American History for students of exceptional ability

"Capable, well-trained, and dedicated teachers" guide Shaker students toward their goals. "Very few academic classes have an enrollment of more than twenty-five." Teachers can give a maximum of attention to each student. The Shaker faculty are reluctant to accept mediocrity. They feel they should, "when in doubt, give the lower grade." Along with these reasons we might invite attention to the kind of training provided in Shaker junior high and elementary schools.

English Department Works for Clear Expression of Thoughts

The clear expression of one's thoughts is of the utmost importance; therefore, particular stress is laid upon the study of English. Skill, taste, and knowledge are developed through composition, grammar and usage, spelling, vocabulary, and reading. The sophomore year aims at introducing the student to the different types of literature. Several biographies, novels, essays, and plays are read during the year. Junior English classes read the works of American authors, which tie in with their studies of American history. Control over language consists not only of the ability to read and write intelligently, but also the ability to speak with clarity and poise. All juniors spend three weeks each semester in speech classes. English literature plays an important part in senior English with special emphasis placed upon Shakespearean tragedies and British novels. The English department also offers a reading improvement course which develops reading speed and comprehension. This year Shaker started a three year accelerated English course which gives the student with greater vocabulary and reading skills the opportunity to read and discuss literature beyond that of the regular course.

The thought of entering a room filled with thousands of books often restrains a person from going into a library. At Shaker this fear is not to be found, because every student and teacher knows that the librarians are always ready to assist them in finding the single book that they need among approximately 12,000. Student assistants help the librarians complete many of the tasks connected with the busy library. The attitude of helpfulness and efficiency makes the Shaker High School library an enjoyable spot in which to study and conduct research.

Mathematics Emphasizes Logical Thought

Mathematics plays an important part in all aspects of life whether one is nine or ninety. Here at Shaker a strong emphasis is placed upon mathematics and the ability to think clearly and logically. Basic principles of arithmetic and its practical uses are taught in applied mathematics; elementary and intermediate algebra stress logical reasoning through mysterious "x's" and "y's"; plane geometry introduces a new system of math to the student, one of abstract figures and theorems. For students who wish to take advanced mathematics, Shaker offers semester courses in trigonometry, solid geometry, and advanced algebra. Mathematicians with exceptional ability may take an accelerated course which covers not only the required work but also calculus and analytic geometry. By this course it is possible to complete three and a half years of mathematics in three years. Since many students plan to take S.A.T.'s their senior year, special math review classes are held which review all phases of mathematics covered during high school.

With daily advances in science it is important to give students a good scientific foundation so they can be a working part of this age of satellites and rockets. Today Shaker biology, physics, and chemistry students study the world in which they live in order to be prepared for future advances. Science students are not taught through textbooks alone; motion pictures illustrate current topics of study and laboratory periods give first hand experience in dealing with scientific mysteries.

Insect collections are required of every biology student plus another project. Several months are spent on projects ranging from heredity experiments with fruit flies to studies of conditioned reflexes of white mice. Projects are encouraged in the other science classes and many of the better projects are entered in science contests where they have received excellent ratings.

A world that is constantly shrinking because of improved communications means greater contact with foreign peoples. Unless custom and conversation barriers are eliminated there can be no real understanding among the peoples of the world. Shaker students have the opportunity to study four languages: French, German, Latin, and Spanish. The modern language classes employ the direct method of teaching. From the moment a student enters a French class and hears his first "bonjour" to when he leaves with "au revoir," nothing but French is spoken. In third and fourth year French a student may read several French classics written by such authors as Maupassant and Daudet. Spanish and German classes are conducted in much the same way. The Latin department emphasizes different elements of language, stressing translation and Latin-derived English words. A Latin student has the opportunity to read the great Latin classics of Cicero and Virgil.

Regardless of the language a student studies, he is building a foundation to support greater understanding of his position as a world citizen.

Art and Music Develop Appreciation of Fine Arts

Mr. Caldwell's art class finds their model better than a bowl of fruit.

A knowledge and appreciation of the fine arts is important to the well educated, well rounded person. At Shaker the Art and Music departments offer courses which give the student a greater appreciation of the fine arts. Art students may take four years of art; the first two years orient the student in this field and prepare him for a career in art. The department of music through the Band, the A Cappella Choir, and the two girls' glee clubs trys to develop and perfect musical talents, both vocal and instrumental. American Problems and American Government involve the political and democratic part of the United States, giving the student a knowledge of party procedures and national law. Along with the other accelerated courses offered at Shaker is a course in American history, which delves more deeply into the economic and social factors of history. At Shaker the boys participate in individual and team sports, gymnastics, and physical conditioning. Team sports such as football, basketball, and volleyball give every boy the opportunity to participate in a sport, which enables him to learn new skills and the importance of cooperation. This fall physical fitness tests were taken by all boys in the gym classes to determine each student's skill at running and calisthenics such as push-ups, sit-ups, and deep kneebends. During the sophomore and junior years, girls are required to participate in one team sport and one individual sport. Some form of dance, either modern or social, must also be taken. Senior gym classes stress advanced skills and strategy. Before graduation all students are required to pass the Red Cross Intermediate Swimming Test.

What courses should I take? What college should I choose? These questions asked by students at Shaker are answered by our staff of guidance counselors. Through analysis of a student's past performance in academic subjects and interpretation of the American Psychological Tests, Shaker counselors can help the student choose the right courses for the next year. Since individual attention for each student is of the utmost importance, Shaker has six guidance counselors whose only job is to help students. The same counselors advise one group of students during their complete three years in high school. By the time a student becomes a senior, it is possible for his guidance counselor to help him choose a suitable college.

SENIORS

As Shaker's "uppest" classmen finished their last year, they had much to look back upon, but much more to look forward to. During three years, the Seniors had left their mark on school policy and history. Senior members of the Central Committee instituted the new Honor Study Hall policy. As captains of varsity athletic teams and as officers of organizations, Seniors became acquainted with the duties that accompany a position of leadership. As they wandered through the halls during their last days, they thought of past experiences which are recorded in the following pages; then they wondered what place they would find in the faceless crowd of the world.

Sophomore Tom Turton at first feels "lost in the whirl"—surrounded by a blur of faces.

Tom realizes that faces in the crowd can become friendly faces as he talks to Cindy Turnbull and John Ostlund.

CLASSES

A face stands out in the crowd of new underclassmen. It is a face that pictures the "lost look" of the new arrivals. And can one blame this underclassman? For everything is so difficult and so different. No wonder he looks confused as he adjusts to long assignments, vanished prestige, and crowded halls. But one day, this sophomore, and the others like him, will again stand out in the crowd. But then, he will be outstanding for his ability to solve quadratic equations, his skill in swimming, and his authority in pounding a gavel. Although his face will stand out in the crowd because of his merit and contribution, it will be difficult to see. So many other outstanding faces in the crowd!

Guide Enthusiastic Group

President Jack Sander, Miss Hollister, and Social Chairman Paula Bodwell make plans for the Junior Prom.

The Junior Prom, difficulties in geometry, beginning of college worries, the Junior bake sale, speech class demonstrations—these are some of the challenges and glories of the junior year.

The members of the junior class, with Jack Sander as President, have faced these issues and have taken them all in their stride. They have continued the fine work that they began in their sophomore year. The juniors have continually proved themselves to be a truly loyal and spirited group by their enthusiastic participation in and support of school functions and activities. The junior class has also proved itself to be a capable and an intelligent group by having a large number of its members make the Scholarship Roll. These capable junior classmen should certainly be excellent leaders as seniors next year.

"Is this date all right for the Sock Hop?" President John Foster asks Mr. Thrailkill, while Social Chairman Betty Wade takes notes.

Taking final exams, dancing at the Sock Hop, making insect collection, cheering at pep rallies, colliding with towering upperclassmen—all these are part of the first exciting year in high school.

The sophomores have encountered many new experiences, and they have quickly adjusted themselves to them. The sophomores have made themselves an important part of the school by their contributions in scholarship, in sports, and in activities. In scholarship, some sophomores achieved the first step towards obtaining a scholarship key by making the Honor Roll. In sports a few of the many sophomores who took part have done so well that they have received their letters. In activities many have received favorable notice for their participation.

The sophomore class has begun its high school career well. May it continue its fine work for the next two years.

The cross-country team gasps toward the finish line.

The Raiders are on the move!

SPORTS

Individuals, teams, and coaches—they compose sports. The courage of the individual, the spirit of the team, and the guiding force of the coaches produce great athletic feats. These things produced memorable achievements . . . the Lakewood football game when, with everyone throwing a block, Chuck Schlam raced for the winning touchdown . . . Carl Herbold's placing in the state cross-country meet . . . the awards assembly where the coaches threw verbal blows at each other and kept us laughing with their wisecracks . . . his teammates throwing Phil Mayher out of the water after he had set a new record. While the cross-country team is gasping toward the finish, let's turn to the pages of memorable events in a parade of athletic feats.

Key block springs Schlam loose for long gain.

Spirit, Hard Work, Make This a Great Season

Coach Halderman Coaches Raiders to Third Place in L.E.L.

Coach Halderman shouts encouragement.

With few veterans on the squad, Coach Halderman fielded a team that had had little game experience against South. A few costly mistakes were made, and South capitalized on them to win.

After the Shaker coaching staff had studied the game movies and had corrected mistakes, an eager, improved opponent faced Maple Heights. Coach Halderman and Line Coach Zednik had improved the line play, especially that of the tackles. With a stiffer line on offense, Vic Ippolito was able to direct the team to its first win.

During the grinding hours of practice preceding the Euclid game, Halderman and Backfield Coach Sanna worked toward the perfection of the running attack and Shaker's principal play, the trap play, which was used to spring loose Chuck Schlam for long yardage. The Raiders then won their last three L.E.L. games.

This season was a tribute to the fine coaching of Head Coach Jim Halderman and his assistants, Nay Sanna and Ed Zednik, as their coaching produced one of Shaker's finest football teams.

Lakewood Game is

Sportswriters predicted a "character-building" season for Shaker football this year; with only five returning lettermen, the season's outlook seemed bleak. But, with a great team effort, the Raiders finished the season successfully. After being beaten by Shaw, 48-6, Shaker resurged to down Euclid, Lakewood, and Heights and gain third place in the L.E.L.

In non-league games, Shaker beat Maple Heights, 24-13, and lost to South, 14-12; to Brush, 32-6; and to Garfield Heights, 34-20.

Traveling to Parma for their first league game, the Raiders found their ranks thinned by flu, which left only fourteen men in playing condition. Except for a first quarter filled with Shaker mistakes, on which Parma scored twenty points, the Raiders battled on equal terms with the Red Men; but our gridders could not prevent Parma's 33-12 victory.

Spirit sank low after Shaw handed the Raiders their worst defeat of the season, 48-6.

The following week, the entire complexion of the season changed as Euclid played at Shaker before a huge Dads' Day crowd. The extra-point "jinx" was broken, as Fullback Chuck Schlam led the team to a 26-14 victory. Our running attack became effective as huge holes were opened for Schlam by the linemen, and as Schlam bulled ahead by sheer strength when caught by Euclid tacklers.

The season's climax came as the Raiders journeyed to Lakewood. Spirit was explosive with Shaker's side of the stands packed. In the second quarter, a sixteen point Ranger margin had been piled up. By the end of the third quarter,

Climax of Season

Shaker, through tremendous desire, had attained a 20-16 lead. The Rangers drove to the Shaker three in the final period, but Ippolito then recovered a Ranger fumble. On the next play, Ippolito gave the ball to Schlam on a trap play, and Schlam raced through a huge hole in the line and galloped ninety-seven yards for the winning touchdown. Lakewood scored once more, but the Raiders won, 27-23.

At the pep rally preceding the Heights game, every Shakerite knew that that evening would spell a Raider victory. Heights was forced to punt the first time they had the ball; and Schlam returned the kick to the Heights nineteen, setting up the first Shaker touchdown. The Raiders punched over for another in the second quarter to gain a 14-0 halftime lead. In the fourth quarter, Ippolito lofted a beautiful pass into the arms of Robbi Cox, who sprinted for the score, making the final tally, 20-0. This was the best game of the season; while the Raider defense bottled up Tiger stars Wolters and Sobul, the offense moved well against a tough Tiger line.

Leading the team were Co-captains Jerry Fritz, a News' "Dream Teamer," and Ron Rudolph, one of the season's surprises as a pass receiver. Vic Ippolito and Chuck Schlam made the "Dream Team"; and Schlam, proving he was one of the best backs in the city, was named to the Press' "Press Stars" and the All-L.E.L. and All-Scholastic teams.

To Coach Halderman the season's surprises made his job an extremely pleasant one, as the Raiders acquired the desire to become one of the top teams in the L.E.L.

The way is clear as Shroyer races around end.

Under the coaching of Fred Heinlen, the Jay Vees had a winning season with a 5-3 record.

The Jay Vees trounced Maple Heights, Brush, and Parma; but they bogged down in the middle of the season, losing to Shaw, Euclid, and Lakewood. Coach Heinlen's spirited team then finished its season with victories over Heights and Garfield.

Those who will strengthen next year's varsity team are Matt Harris, Maury Greenstein, Bill Stage, Jim Teresi, Jeff Korach, and Mike Marino.

"It could have gone either way." This statement by Coach Fred Heinlen summarizes the '58 Raider basketball season.

With four returning varsity lettermen, Shaker's chances seemed bright, except for the fact that the Raider team lacked height. But they had the potential to become a good team, and the only question that remained was this: would the Raiders be able to fight hard enough to out-maneuver their larger opponents?

In their first game of the season, the Red Raiders raced by the Brush Arcs, 73-58. Shaker pulled away in the last quarter to establish a final margin of fifteen points.

The best way to begin a campaign is to win, and Heinlen's cagers commenced their Lake Erie League competition with a victory over Lakewood. The game began with both teams steadily trading basket for basket through the first three quarters. In the final period, the Raiders sank nineteen points to surge to a 50-38 win.

At Heights, the Tigers seemed to do everything right and ran away from Shaker in the second half to down the Shaker cagers 83-57. The one bright note of the game was Chuck Schlam's scoring spree of twenty-seven points.

Jubilant Ippolito in victory celebration.

To begin an eight game winning streak, the Raiders outclassed John Adams, 61-50. The following Friday, the Red Raiders traveled to Parma to meet the Redmen. Scoring proceeded evenly through three-fourths of the game, as Shaker seemed unable to maneuver under the basket while guarded by the taller Redmen. But Shaker hit from the outside to stay abreast. In the fourth quarter, the Raiders managed to pull away and to finish with a 65-59 victory.

During the Christmas vacation, Heinlen's cagers defeated Garfield Heights, 67-50, and Orange, 55-52, to win the Garfield Holiday Tournament and to establish themselves as one of the top teams in the city in the polls conducted by the Cleveland News and the Plain Dealer.

Shaw was the first to visit Shaker after vacation, and the Raiders greeted the new year by winning 56-51. They led all the way and were threatened only in the fourth quarter, as the Cardinals pulled to within one point near the end.

Lutheran was Shaker's next victim, 50-40, as the Raiders lengthened their streak.

At Euclid the following week, Jack Sander and Dick Balazs held Euclid's high-scoring Jim Yanchar to sixteen points. With Sanders and Balazs doing a stupendous defensive job, the Raiders were able to hold their own under the backboards. The game was close; Jim Slavin sank a lay-up with only seconds remaining to give Shaker the victory margin, 40-38. The next night Shaker met Maple Heights at home and trounced them, 56-36.

At Lakewood, Shaker was handed its second L. E. L. loss, 57-53. Setting up a zone defense, the Rangers avenged their earlier loss by forcing Shaker to shoot from the outside. The Raiders were unable to sink enough of those long shots and bowed to the Rangers' height and defensive tactics.

An easy win over W.R.A, 71-54, followed as the cagers tuned up for Heights.

Heights, having lost Waxman and Katz, seemed like an easy victim for Heinlen's cagers. The Raiders piled up a nine point lead in the first quarter, and it looked as if high-scoring Glenn Golenberg and Sander couldn't miss. But Shaker suddenly cooled off and couldn't find the mark. Heights erased the Raider lead and used their zone defense to keep the Raiders out of scoring distance. In the second half, the Tigers steadily pulled away to a final 68-50 win. This was the climax of the season; for it broke the tie for first in the L.E.L. between Heights and Shaker and destroyed the Raiders' title hopes.

After this disappointing loss, the Raiders lost their last four games to Parma, 65-69; to Shaw, 63-78; to Garfield, 51-61; and to Euclid, 40-47.

Although the season ended in a heartbreaking manner, the cagers, with a 11-7 record, had the most successful season in the history of Shaker basketball. Leading the team through the season were playmaking Captain Dale Huge, and teammates Glenn Golenberg, Jack Sander, Dick Balazs, Jim Slavin, and Chuck Schlam.

Jay Vees Storm to Record 12-4 Mark

Leukart drives in to add two.

With a 12-4 season record, Coach Sanna's junior varsity eclipsed the old record set by the jayvees two years ago. Led by Dick Oviatt, Mike Marino, and Dennis Reimer, the jayvees compiled a 6-4 L.E.L. record, which gave them co-ownership of the '58 L.E.L. junior varsity championship.

The success of the junior Raiders can be attributed to the facts that they had the height, the bench strength, and the fight and desire to win the close ones.

Some of the boys who look like promising members of next year's varsity are Oviatt, the high point man for the season; Marino; Bow Schneider; Reimer; and Chuck Savoca.

Starkmen Are L.E.L. District Champs

Relay race! Who's ahead, or, rather, whose . . . . .

The Red Raider swimming team proved to be one of Shaker's greatest, as it lost only one dual meet and won the Euclid Relays, the Kent State Relays, the L.E.L. meet, the district meet, and took third place in the state meet.

Coach Stark called this season's swimmers "the best team I've ever coached." The Raiders were a team, rather than a group of individuals, and this spirit of cooperation gave Shaker its victory in the Kent State Relays and helped Coach Stark keep his team eager to win every meet.

At Shaw for the first meet of the season, the Raiders trounced the Cardinals, 66-20. The mermen captured nine firsts in ten events.

Shaker returned home to meet Heights the following week. Phil Mayher captured first in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:05.2. The medley relay team of Tom Prior, Ralph Waldo, Tom Adler, and Dave Metz set a new school and pool record of 1:30.1 to take another of Shaker's seven firsts.

Coach Stark's mermen couldn't seem to acquire enough desire at Lakewood that Friday. The Rangers downed the Raiders, 51-35.

After winning the Euclid Relays and the Kent State Relays, Shaker narrowly subdued Berea, 50-36.

In a 70-16 romp over Euclid, three school and pool records were set: Mayher's 1:02.7 in the backstroke, Adler's 1:12.2 in the breaststroke, and the medley teams 1:28.9.

Bent on avenging their only dual meet loss of the season, the determined Raiders, led by Captain Ralph Waldo, scored six first places to defeat their foes, 53½-32½.

Shaker trounced Berea, 63-23, and tuned up for the L.E.L. meet by sinking Euclid, 60-26.

The Red Raiders scored 97 points to win their fifth consecutive L.E.L. crown, as Shaker's depth swept them to victory. Taking the four Shaker firsts were Mayher in the backstroke, Jeremy Rosenthal in the diving, and the two relay teams.

Shaker marched on to Berea to conquer their district foes, scoring 77½ points to beat second-place Heights by 28 points. The Raiders scored two firsts, three seconds, and one third place as Adler won the 100-yard breaststroke, and the free-style relay team set a new district record of 1:39.8 to take Shaker's other first.

Traveling to Columbus for the state meet, the Red Raiders finished third behind Canton McKinley and Berea. Scoring Shaker's twenty-three points were Mayher, second in the backstroke; Adler, fifth in the breaststroke, and the relay teams, third in both events.

Records fell in every direction this year. Coach Miller's mermen raced to a 6-2 season record. Co-captains Bill Baumoel and Chuck Brown led the team, Baumoel setting records in the 40-yard and 50-yard freestyle and Brown and Baumoel helping the 160-yard and 200-yard freestyle relays to new records.

The junior Raiders began their season by swamping Shaw, 70-15, and followed this victory by beating Heights, 53-33, as Steve Davies, Dick Desberg, and Baumoel won their events.

One of the Jay Vees' two losses came as Lakewood edged Coach Miller's team, 44-42.

The mermen regained their form to beat Euclid, 51-34, and Shaw, 66-26.

In the Raiders' second encounter with Heights, the Tigers proved to be too tough and won, 44-42.

Shaker closed the season by defeating Lakewood, 46-40, and Euclid, 47-39.

The swimmers who will strengthen Raider hopes next year are Bill Baumoel, Steve Davies, Dick Desberg, and Dave Spott.

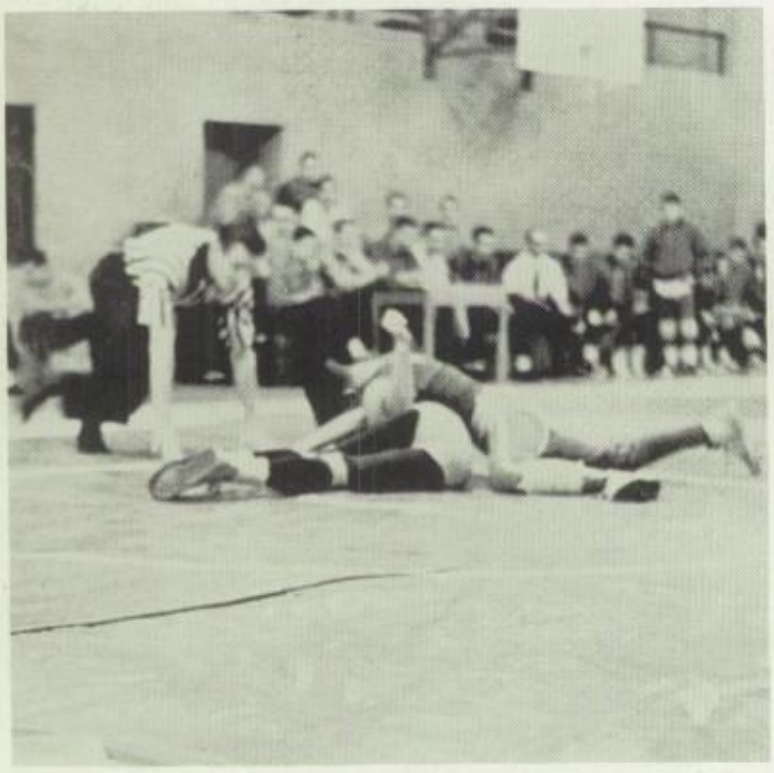
Wrestlers Overcome Injuries



Near-pin!

Coach Zednik's wrestlers were able to achieve a rewarding 5-5 season record in spite of injuries to key squad members.

With a large crowd cheering the Raiders on to victory, Mike Schneiberg at 103 pounds, Sheldon Jaffe at 127 pounds, Chuck Ratner at 138 pounds, Jerry Fritz at 145 pounds, Pete Ban at 165 pounds, and heavyweight Al Benson won their matches and paced Shaker to a 28-19 victory over West Tech.

Two weeks later John Adams' matmen came to the Shaker gym and defeated the Raiders, 25-12. That week the Raiders also lost to powerful Bedford, 24-18.

In January Coach Zednik's mat crew was shaded by last year's state champions, Maple Heights, 24-23. Although Maple won, the Raiders' middleweights made excellent showings as Captain Lenny Weiss, Paul Henning, and Fritz all registered pins.

Shaker captured a point for the bell by crushing Lakewood, 39-6. Frank Boldizar, Sheldon Warren, Ratner, and Ban registered pins; and Jaffe, Weiss, Benson, Henning, and Schneiberg decisioned their foes.

to Achieve 5-5 Record

Disaster struck the squad the next week with injuries to Ban and Fritz, State champion Euclid soundly defeated the crippled Raiders, 40-3, as Weiss took the only Shaker points with a decision.

Recovering somewhat, Coach Zednik's grapplers downed Shaw, 28-18. Captain Weiss remained undefeated as he won his fourth bout on a decisive first-period pin.

The Red Raiders then lost to Heights, 26-11, and finished their regular season campaign by beating West, 27-12, and Parma, 24-9.

Schneiberg and Weiss became East Side Regional champions, Ban took a third place, and Henning took a fourth place, as Shaker took third place in the regional meet. Weiss and Ban also took fourth place honors in the state meet at Lakewood.

Captain Lenny Weiss with a 7-0 record, Pete Ban with 7-2 record, Paul Henning with an 8-2 record, and Mike Schneiberg and Frank Boldizar with 6-3 records led the Raiders through a fruitful, although injury-ridden, season.

Coach Goodman's junior varsity had an off-and-on season, but several wrestlers showed promise of strengthening next year's varsity squad.

The Jay Vees kept pace with the varsity as they defeated West Tech, 31-14.

Two weeks later, John Adams decisioned Shaker, 34-18. A tough Bedford squad also defeated the junior Raiders that week by a score of 28-23.

Shaker again found themselves as they beat Lakewood, 29-20.

Euclid's Jay Vees proved as formidable as their Varsity when they swarmed over Shaker, 31-8.

Finishing their season, the junior Raiders registered three victories over Shaw, 33-17; over Heights, 25-18; and over John Adams in a return match, 23-18.

Bob Alberga, Larry Janis, Marty Dunn, Matt Harris, Mark Fishman, and Ken Bravo are the boys who will become members of next year's Varsity team.

The Red Raider tennis team, guided by Coach Jack Pickering, swept to its third consecutive L.E.L. and city championships.

At Shaw, Gary Schwartz, winning at third singles; Bill Oviatt and Dennis Crumbine victorious at first doubles; and Steve Hrones and John Tomasch winning at second doubles, led the Raiders to a 3-2 victory.

John Goetz, Al Ganim, and Schwartz won their singles matches; and the two doubles were victorious, blanking Lakewood, 5-0.

Co-captains Goetz and Schwartz led Shaker to a 4-1 victory over Heights for the Raiders' fourth straight L.E.L. victory.

To end the fall season, the Raiders shut out Euclid, 5-0, and established an unblemished L.E.L. season record.

This spring the tennis Raiders were out to win their fourth consecutive championship.

Shaker's Golf team, with returning veterans Dale Huge and Dave Jacobson, bolstered Coach Stoch's hopes as he heard of their last year's records.

Cross Country Team One of Shaker's Best

Phil "Rabbit" Jackson's flash starts thrilled the fans, exhilarated his teammates, and awed his opponents. However, behind him came the team's scoring strength which carried the pace after he faded.

Coach Rice had one of his best teams and at the same time, due to tough competition, one of his worst seasons. Carl Herbold averted several shutouts in the first meets when illness hampered his teammates. Shaker placed fourth in the L.E.L. Meet and seventh in the District Meet where Herbold qualified for the State Meet. John Bergin, Tom Bergin, Dave Dunn, Buck Ellsworth, John Foster, Carl Herbold, Jim Murchie, and manager Dick Silver received letters while Sam Driggins, Chuck Frankel, and Bob Piwonka earned second year awards.

Track Team Runs After Second League Title

Under Coach Rice's guidance and Bob Piwonka and Phil Jackson's captaincy, this year's track team proved itself a top power. After early workouts and five indoor meets the team hit the cinders in April, and there followed not only a series of dual meet victories but also a successful record in the big relay meets and the L.E.L., District, and State meets. Dick Balazs and Phil Jackson in the hurdles; the Bergin Brothers, Carl Herbold, and Paul Piwonka in the distances; sprint stars Dave Dunn, John Foster, Ed Jeffery, and Jeff Winn; and Jim Slavin in the field events could be counted for places. Also gathering winning points were Ken Dixon, Sam Driggins, Buck Ellsworth, Joe Johnson, Jim Murchie, Tony Paul, Hal Schwartz, and Ralph Waldo.

Baseballers Have Promise for Successful Season

Having completely lost last years' infield through graduation, Coach Heinlen achieved a major reconstruction during the summer. Shaker's prospects for the coming season appeared bright as the Raider diamond crew waited anxiously for the weather to clear.

Established as definite infield prospects were Ron Rudolph at third, John Dickey at shortstop, Jerry Davis at second, and Ralph Karlovec at first.

One of the Raiders' main assets was their strong pitching staff, including veterans Tom Lenhart and Robbi Cox. On the other side of the plate was Captain John Tomasch, destined to become one of the best catchers in the L.E.L.

With the outfield not decided upon, Shaker appeared to have the adequate fielding, good hitting, and good pitching to produce a successful season.

Variety is the Spice

Ranging from body mechanics to specialized lifesaving courses, the girls' sports program has a wide variety of opportunities for participation. The three major sports—basketball, volleyball, and hockey—dominate the program; but fencing, badminton, tennis, swimming, golf, and even archery are also offered. Tumbling, this year's addition, proved very popular, even though Harriett Slater jumped over the buck with a skirt on and hit her head on the supports.

Long nights were spent after school by many girls who had their aims set on varsity teams. Grueling practice sessions brought out ability in a lot of girls who eventually became accomplished players. Injuries were few, although Sue Dougherty suffered a twisted ankle and Karen Jamieson sprained an already wounded finger. After school efforts proved fruitful, however, for Shaker's teams were rarely beaten in any sport.

Interclass Games Prove Exciting

This year's hockey tournament, though marred by bad weather, proved to be exciting. Amidst mud and rain both the Juniors and Seniors beat the Sophomores handily. Several days later, still on a muddy field, the well coordinated Juniors literally wiped out the demoralized Senior team to emerge as school champions.

Volleyball, however, proved that the Seniors too were capable of victory. After the Junior and Senior teams were victorious over the surprisingly well organized Sophomore team, they met to decide the school winner. The joyful Juniors found themselves ahead at half time by one point, but their joy changed to sorrow as the Seniors, sparked by a second-half rally, bounded well ahead to become class champs and to avenge their disgraceful defeat at hockey earlier in the season.

Sharcs Plan Perky Pageant

Keeping with tradition, the Sharcs Club spent nearly the entire year in preparation for their annual pageant. This year's program, centered around "shoes," took place on May 14 and 15 and, as usual, was performed before overflowing houses. Climaxing the show was President Ham's solo which was based on "skates."

Polly and the other officers also worked out a special routine which they presented before a group of teachers at Fenn College on N.E.O.T.A. Day. A "Bermuda" breakfast was held December 30 for Sharc's alumnae. It consisted of a casual breakfast at the home of a member, then, appropriately, a splash party at the Byron swimming pool. Although the majority of their work ends in two short nights, the Sharcs feel that their long hours in the pool are well worth the effort.

Swimming Leaders Submerge to Serve

Girls with swimming ability religiously attended practices held by the Girls' Swimming Leaders Club near the beginning of each school year. The few girls who eventually did become members soon discovered that they had not only to be skilled in swimming strokes, but also had to be teachers as well. Their talents were directed to helping in swimming classes and life-guarding at various school functions such as open houses and the F.F.F.F. In addition, several members devoted their services to helping keep the records at the home swimming meets.

Late in October the Girls' Leaders Club held their annual initiation dinner for their eleven new members. Certificates and emblems were presented to the recently elected members, who immediately took the responsibilities of the service club to which they now belonged. In addition to assisting in classes by taking attendance, demonstrating skills, and refereeing games, the Leaders planned several service projects which included singing Chistmas carols at the state hospital and making toys for a Cleveland orphanage.

Their annual dance, the Coral Belle, held March 8, featured underwater decorations, food, and entertainment, which was performed partially by the Leaders Club itself.

Leaders must take tests periodically on the intricate rules of hockey, volleyball, and basketball, and thus keep well informed on the mechanics of these games. Especially well informed girls take "rating" tests, and, if they pass, receive an emblem to prove their efficiency. The greatest gain from being well acquainted with the rules, however, is that of sportsmanship, which is the most important qualification of a Girls' Leader.

Student Council Sparks Shakerites

An acute interest in school improvement determined much of the legislative action of the Student Council. Committees were formed to examine the efficiency of the Demerit Panel, the possibility of required book covers, and the possible formation of a new method of Council representation. One of President Ferguson's campaign planks became an established fact as the class nominating committees were abolished in favor of homeroom nominations. Shaker's Council played host to the L.E.L. Student Council convention. Subjects, including methods of represenation, were discussed.

The Council welcomed the Future Teachers of America, the Advanced Biology Club, and the Pre-Med Club to the club roster as it passed their constitutions. The Council's legislative work was rounded out by the examination and approval of the new Honor Study Hall policy.

Demerit Panel

"Who, me?" This phrase signifies the usual surprise that accompanies the receipt of a slip informing the recipient that he has received a demerit.

Probably the greatest amount of student paper-work in the school was performed by a six member panel and Student Council Vice-President Robbi Cox. This organization, well known to many, has the unique name of "Demerit Panel." Serving as an independent branch of the Student Council, the Panel conducted meetings each Friday, during the last period. By means of letter home, and personal conferences with offenders, the Demerit Panel attempted to reduce and even eliminate the acquisition of demerits. As each of the panel members took weekly turns in recording the mountain of demerits, he wished in vain that the writer's cramp would disappear.

Central Committee

For the first time complete honor was injected into the Honor Study Hall system. The superfluous position of Student Adviser was abolished as Shaker's fine example of an Honor system came of age.

This year's Central Committee, director of the H.S.H. system, startled the student body and the faculty with the proposal for a new study hall policy. After a debated point-by-point passage in the Student Council and after faculty approval, the new plan was unanimously endorsed by the present members of Honor Study Hall.

Other reforms in the policy included the addition of two juniors to the Committee, and the necessity of recommendations from teachers to be considered for Honor Study Hall. Yes, 1958 brought new spirit and greater honor to the Honor Study Hall System.

Led by President Jim Slavin and advised by Miss Nancy Hollister, the 1958 Social Council produced a gay season of enjoyment. Dances and open houses provided the basis for the year's fun, and the highlights of each event were recorded for posterity with the Council's new camera.

The Social Council also sponsored the snack bar, which was open every Tuesday after school. Goodies served by student volunteers made the Social Room an enjoyable but fattening place to spend after-school hours.

Two representatives are elected by every homeroom and each serves a semester.

Glad To Be Of Service

Midst the "chaotic order" of Mr. Morris' office, Sheila Kaplan uses one of her few minutes to study.

With crowded, noisy halls the Boosters had a difficult job maintaining quiet and order. Demerits in hand they caught juniors attempting to sneak into the parking lot and sophomores —or seniors—going up the "down" stairs. Robbi Cox, as vice president of Student Council, was responsible for keeping peak efficiency in the organization.

The Deans were relieved of many time-consuming tasks by their assistants. These girls answered phone calls from worried parents and delivered messages to students in classes.

Band's Marching Hundred— Bigger And Better

Although greatly handicapped by bad weather and the flu bug, the Shaker "Marching Hundred" still performed in the unusually low temperatures and on the usually muddy fields. Shakerite fighting spirit was sparked by the easily recognized Shaker band sound at pep assemblies and rallies as well as the football games.

The majorettes sported two new sets of uniforms: a jumper-style and a sparkling white military-style; red protective capes added a finishing high note to their attire. Many of the bandsmen wore new band uniforms, purchased with the money received from the previous year's fund-raising candy sale.

After the bustle of preparation for the Greater Cleveland Instrumental Contest in February, the band's '58 activities were climaxed by the Spring Instrumental Concert. This concert, in the past a joint junior-senior high affair, was for the first time an independent senior high band venture. The Shaker band was also honored to have a number of its members chosen to participate in the All-Ohio Boys Band which performs during the State Fair in Columbus each summer.

Girls' Sextet entertains Y-Teeners at the Christmas meeting.

New beauty was added to the traditional Christmas concert last yuletide, when a Candlelight procession of the A Cappella Choir began and terminated the evening of joyful music.

The musical extravaganza "The Dream" was decidedly enhanced by the presence and wonderful balance of the ninety voices of the Choir.

Without a doubt the high point of the Choir's activities was the Lake Erie League Choral Festival; this year Shaker acted as host to the five other L.E.L. school choirs.

Singers And Glee Clubs Feature Concerts

Three days each week during first and third period, the Singers and Glee clubs were to be heard rehearsing their songs in the choir room. Before Christmas they strove to reach perfection for the annual concert while later they centered their activities around preparation for the spring concert.

Although these groups are similar in their formation and ultimate goals, they are separate organizations. The Glee Club was composed entirely of sophomores, while the Singers Club derived its membership mainly from the juniors and seniors. The Singers Club gave several performances during the year for parental groups such as the Parents Music Committee.

Chess Club Checkmates Opponents

Concentration—the theme of the Chess Club.

As defending Greater Cleveland Scholastic Chess League Champions, Shaker's chess team again entered this league which included several Cleveland area schools such as John Adams and Cleveland Heights. Meeting every Friday afternoon, Chess Club members strove to perfect their skill as players in order to be ready for the many tournaments of 1958.

"Nous Parlons Français Ici"

"Qu'est-ce que je fais?" or "What's my line?" was the hilarious topic of just one of the French Club meetings. Throughout the year several "rendez-vous'S" ranging from a Christmas party to a presentation of a French play, filled the club's activities with fun.

Besides having an enjoyable time, Shaker's French Club students received the opportunity to learn more about France and her customs through movies and speaking French informally during all club sessions.

Junior Council Discusses World Affairs

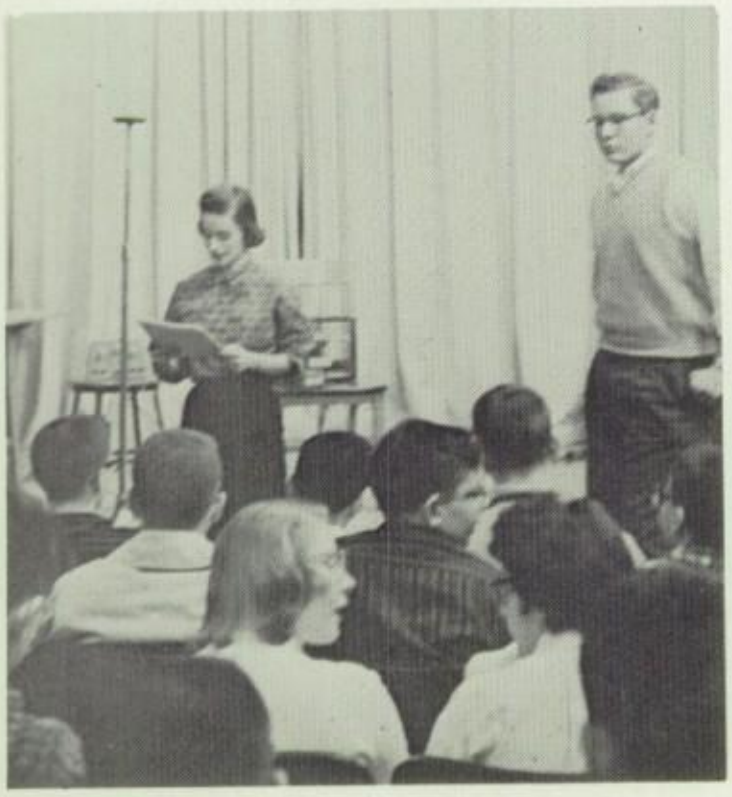
"And how are our Sputnicks advancing?" is the question of this Junior Council meeting.

Judy Zwick, Ken Montlack, and Ronna Zucker plan the next meeting.

Featuring informative discussions of present-day problems such as the effect of Sputnik on U. S. prestige and the aspects of missile defense, the Junior Council on World Affairs increased its membership and became a very bustling organization.

During the spring a Council member was selected to visit Washington, D. C. Highlighting the year's outside activities was the mock United Nations Assembly held at Lakewood High School. To this exciting event Shaker's Junior Council sent twelve students to represent the countries that the club had been assigned.

Shakerites Delve Into Science



The increasing interest in scientific achievement and study did much in 1958 to help swell the ranks of the Science Club. Through demonstrations by both members and outside organizations, such as the General Motors Company, the club filled its monthly programs with perceptive and informative material. Field trips to Apex Smelting Plant and other business corporations augmented the year's program. Members of the organization also viewed fascinating movies which supplied several fine suggestions for projects and fields of study.

All is not quiet while Mary Lou Moore reads the minutes.

Biologists Advance Their Knowledge

Shakerites who were extremely inquisitive about the dark secrets of nature's biological creations soon discovered the presence of the newly-formed Advanced Biology Club. Under the leadership of Bill Hammond, this '58 club addition quickly formed its constitution and had it passed by the Student Council. By the end of the year the club's membership roll had lengthened to include many more than the few original founders.

Individual projects and later reports on their advancement determined much of the organization's activities. Topics of current biological interest were brought to the club through the showing of movies and slides. To further stimulate their interest field trips were made to the Cleveland Morgue and the Cleveland Health Museum.

Bill Hammond fascinates Advance Biology members as he dissects a white rat.

Students Plan Future As Teachers

Carol Korman tells Shaker's future teachers what the year's activities will be.

Making its premiere appearance in the ranks of Shaker clubs was the Future Teachers of America. Monthly meetings which usually highlighted an outside speaker induced many inspired students to attend. To help the members determine whether or not they were "right" for the teaching profession, a program of observing and teaching elementary school pupils was initiated.

Bridge Clubbers Learn Tricks Of Trade

Relaxation is the main purpose of the Bridge Club. Although many of the new members found that their knowledge of bridge included only the fact that a deck has fifty-two cards, they soon learned the rules and theory of the game. Under the direction and guidance of "old timers," the novices soon became skilled enough to play in tournaments.

Keglers Topple Tenpins

During the months of '58, seventy-five boys bowled their way to a great deal of fun every Monday at the Kinsman-Lee Alleys. Throughout the year club members participated in several tournaments including the Cuyahoga County Championship Roll-Offs and the Lake Erie Invitational Tournament.

To Master Firearms

Sharpshooters are "made not born!" This fact quickly became evident to Rifle Club members after their first session on the range. But members soon discovered that diligent practice helped them hit the target. Surviving the first shocks of the resounding din of gunfire, the future marksmen strove to climb the successive steps to proficiency.

Bud Rainin, Norm Duchon, Ben Wickham, and Bob Kennedy sight the target.

Their Path Leads To A Dramatic Future

Morning announcements and afternoon interruptions are the combined responsibility of the P.A. Announcers and Technicians. Technicians are chosen during their sophomore year and stay on the crew for three years. Seeing that sound equipment is at the right place at the right time is one of their immediate responsibilities.

The announcers are all seniors chosen by audition. These faces are not seen in the crowd, only heard.

The World Projected Into The Classroom

At least the faces of the Projection Crew are seen, if only in the darkness of a classroom or the Small Auditorium during the showing of one of the many educational films. Under the guiding hands of the Crew, Shaker students are focused on the world of science, history, and the miscellaneous.

Faces seldom seen but extremely necessary to the crowd are those of the Stage Crew. This year's productions of "The Teahouse of the August Moon" and "The Dream" would never have achieved success without the competent curtain pulling, set setting, and light switching of the Stage Crew members.

Aspiring Medics Look To Future

Open to students who believe that the medical profession may be in their future, the Pre-Med Club attempts to acquaint its members with the many facets of medicine. Field trips to University Hospitals laboratories and lectures by well-known doctors such as Dr. Bowers, former head of surgery at St. Luke's Hospital, highlighted the activities of this organization.

Staff Notifies Shakerites Of News

The "brass" assign this issue's assignments.

Fifteen bi-weekly editions, highlighted by the additional Christmas, April Fool's, and Yearbook Supplement issues, was the fulfilled goal set by this year's Shakerite staff. During the previous year, the '58 editors had gained experience by planning and supervising one of the Shakerite editions. After the paper was put to bed, one of the writers took it to the printer, while the other editors were already planning the next issue.

Early in the year the "cubs" were selected from an ambitious number of applicants. Competition was high as aspiring writers racked their brains for the unusual twist to a story that would win them more points during the five week trial period.

Several of the reporters found that the interview with Ed Sullivan during his visit to Cleveland was a high point of the year.

Each afternoon fifth period, room 306, the new home of the Gristmill Staff, was a center of activity and inactivity. The staff members were engaged with varying degrees of urgency, in the frantic search for a photographer to take on-the-spot pictures or the tedious job of pasting layouts on dummy sheets.

Under the guiding hand of "commander-in-chief" Dave Meil, each editor endeavored to complete his section of the epic. After planning sessions and the successful advance Gristmill sale, the editors settled down to hard work.

A "first" was scored this year as a color picture blazed across two of the new sixteen pages that were added to the book.

Despite homework assignments, bad weather, and car trouble, many Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors attended the weekly Wednesday night meetings at the Cleveland Heights Y.M.C.A. At these meetings, presided over for the first semester by Dave Smith and the second by Jim Warburton, the chapters jointly planned the year's activities with such features as the Hi-Y Fall Ball in October and the spring picnic.

The Sophomore chapter featured a rather wet swimming party and a game night. Under the sponsorship of the Senior chapter, the annual orphan's Christmas party and a roller skating party came off with a bang.

The spring found a few chapter members at Hiram College. Here they ran for various state offices which, if won, assured a trip to Columbus and the participation in the Ohio Youth in Government.

Projects And Frolics

From serving at the College Night Dinner to participating in a verse chorus for a candlelight service radio program, this year's Y-Teen Club again provided a most gracious representation of the helpful American teenage girl.

Each of the three chapters carried on its own meetings in which future plans for the club were discussed, and service projects were made. A combined meeting, planned by one of the chapters, was held each month.

The juniors conducted two of the most exciting and gala meetings: a hair styling session by Ross Portors and the annual style show benefit for the World Fellowship Fund. The ceremony for the installation by officers, highlighted the September arrangements made by the Seniors.

The "brass" of the chapter attended monthly Board Meetings, which were directed by Midge Sheppherd, and effected the planning and co-ordination of the coming year's activities. The officers' hard work was made worthwhile by the Pop Pie Feed, an annual event for the Y-Teen officers and their fathers.
